The Thanksgiving contribution by the school children was liberal, for the poor. There were received about 15 bushels of potatoes, 100 cans of fruit, 50 glasses of jelly and much coffee, and everything good to eat and wear. Supt. Grady appointed Misses Anna White, Emma Floyd, Gertrude Tracey and Truant Officer J. P. Rochester to distribute the contribution. They distributed all among 12 families. It was a commendable act of charity, and very gratifying that there are so few families in Logan that are objects of charity.

"The Climax" at Opera House, Monday, Dec. 6.

"There's nothing succeeds like success" is an old saying that finds an echo in the remarkable success attained by Joseph M. Weber's superb novelty drama "The Climax" by Edward Locke, with incidental music by Joseph Carl Breit, which will make its bow to the local theater-goers at Logan on Monday, Dec. 6. "The Climax" comes with the New York stamp of success, an endorsement which is universally approved by the press and public of other cities where ever the piece has been seen this season. There has been no other play produced on Broadway in years, with the possible exception of "The Music Master," which has been made such an emphatic hit with the playgoers of the metropolis. It is said that a cast of capable Broadway players will be seen in the different interpretations.

Wilson and Rev. Correll presented to Mrs. Rev. Boyd, which she with the U. B. pastor and people appreciated very much.

Frank Dixon.

On Wednesday, December the eighth, Dr. Frank Dixon comes to Logan to fill an engagement on the school Lecture Course.

He is a man who knows how to lecture—pre-eminently a lyceum lecturer—as has been demonstrated by the phenomenal success of the past five years upon the platform.

Gifted by nature with the temperament of the orator, possessed of the Roman's sense of justice, of the Greek's precision of speech, swayed by a prophet's vision of national righteousness, it was evident, from the moment Mr. Dixon first appeared before a lyceum audience, that in him the highest ideals of the lecture platform had found splendid embodiment.

He is a man whose message is vital to the nation. He speaks with the authority of one who knows the truth, and has no fear of man.

Frank Dixon is not on the lecture platform because of a reputation gained elsewhere. A man may be a great writer—poet, novelist, essayist—he may be a brilliant lawyer, an eminent statesman, a soldier of renown, a scientist, philosopher, preacher, or explorer, and yet be a mortal bore on the lyceum platform. Mr. Dixon possesses the faculty, so rare even among public men, of discussing a weighty theme before a popular audience in a manner so lucid and captivating, and yet so logical, powerful and convincing, that there is not a moment of heaviness, no consciousness of the flight of time. He is on the lyceum platform because there he finds

PBETTY WEDDING.

Miss Dimple Kramer and Harry A. Blacksten Married.

(Bucyrus Telegraph.)

A very pretty wedding of the Thanksgiving season was solemnized on Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock when Miss Dimple Alice Kramer, of this city, became the bride of Harry Albert Blacksten, of Decatur, Ill. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Kramer at 439 West Warren street, in the presence of twenty guests, nearly all relatives.

The house decorations were in lavender and yellow, the color scheme being carried out with blossoms of the chrysanthemum, making a very pretty setting for the ceremony.

The ceremony itself was without ostentation, the bride and groom, with their attendants, entering the parlor to the music of the wedding march, played by Mrs. William Kramer, sister-in-law of the bride. Miss Laura Schnabel was bridesmaid and Carl Blacksten, of Logan, Ohio, was groomsmen.

The bride wore a pretty gown of white silk Japione, while the bridesmaid was also attired in white. The bouquets usually carried were dispensed with. Rev. O. E. Knepp performed the ceremony and a sumptuous wedding feast followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Blacksten will remain at the Kramer home until the first of next week when they will leave for Decatur where they will go to housekeeping at once.

Mrs. Blacksten is a charming young lady whose entire life has been spent in Bucyrus. For the past three years she has been employed as operator at the Bucyrus Telephone Exchange, holding the cent resignation. She has a wide circle of admiring friends in her home town and all regret very much that she is to leave Bucyrus. The groom was formerly employed on the O. C. railroad, but for the past year has been with the C. H. & D. railroad at Decatur, having a position in train service. He is a popular and worthy young man, and both he and his bride have the very best wishes of their friends for a long, happy and prosperous future.

Among the guests at the wedding were Mrs. Robert Blacksten and Carl Blacksten, mother and brother of the groom, from Logan, Misses Rhea and Jessie Ballard, cousins of the bride, from Lima, and Mrs. Louis Kramer, an aunt of the bride, from Reading, Pa.

Any person that enjoys good things to eat, and plenty of it, should not fail to attend the dinner and supper given at the Red Men's Hall on Dec. 16. There will be all kinds of grub, even "The Presidential Possum," and all for the small sum of 25 cents.
